

A quick note about appointment attendance

Consistent care is important for the health of you and your baby. If you cannot consistently show up for your appointments, we may have to transfer you out of our care, but we will evaluate this on a case by case basis. If you cannot make a scheduled appointment we kindly ask that you notify us and reschedule.

If you miss an appointment, we will make three attempts to reschedule for you. If we do not hear from you after three attempts, we will assume that you have ended care with us and send you a letter as final outreach. If at any point you'd like to reconnect with us, please give us a call.
